Why Worry?

By Aaron Veyon

I dare say that there's not a single one of us that hasn't been overwhelmed with worry at one time or another. Yet with some people, worry is a daily occurrence. Let me ask you, friend: are you a worrywart?

Some time ago I read an interesting article that I believe puts worry into perspective. Evidently (according to the National Bureau of Standards), a dense fog covering seven city blocks to a depth of 100 feet is composed of something less than one glass of water. Now I don't know much about fog (other than the fact it's often a burden to drive in), but if that is true, that's an amazing statistic. I believe this illustration is a fair comparison to our worry or anxiety about worldly matters. If all our worry about earthly things were reduced to its true value, most of it wouldn't be worth our time.

According to Luke 10:41 Martha was much like that fog: "And Jesus answered and said to her, 'Martha, Martha, you are worried and troubled about many things.'" Jesus tells us not to worry (Matt. 6:25-34). Put God first, and things will fall into place. Paul puts it this way, "Be anxious for nothing, but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your requests be made known to God" (Phil. 4:6).

Let's Be Content

by: Dale Grissom

The apostle Paul offers encouragement in the Philippian letter: "Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content" (Philippians 4:11); and in the 13th verse: "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Unfortunately, many today are so dissatisfied with life that unhappiness is evident in almost everything they do. We all need to learn, as Paul did, to be happy and to find peace and contentment in our lives. Happiness is not found in the accumulation of material goods, but in truly making God the Lord of our lives, bringing ourselves in subjection to Him by doing His will.

We must first believe we can change, in order to change our attitudes. Peace will then find its place in our lives, as we draw near to the Lord. A good example of this peace is described in Habakkuk 3:17, 18: "Although the fig tree shall not blossom, neither shall fruit be in the vines; the labour of the olive shall fail, and the fields shall yield no meat; the flock shall be cut off from the fold, and there shall be no herd in the stalls: Yet I will rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation." Habakkuk learned the most important thing in life is having a right relationship with God.

Christians can find great strength and peace in the Lord, despite personal suffering. True joy is to know that our crosses may be used for His glory and our good. Sometimes it is difficult to see the complete picture, but we know we can trust Him, even when we are suffering; knowing He is always beside us, helping bear our burdens, even unto death. He has promised eternal life in heaven where there will be joy forever, to the faithful Christian. John spoke of the mansion prepared for the faithful (John 14:1-3). The very thought of such a place should bring peace and joy to all believers.
