The Sin Of Pride

By: Ryan W. Kepke

For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, Thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lasciviousness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness: All these evil things come from within, and defile the man." (Mark 7:21-23).

Most people have a certain concept or concepts where pride is concerned. There is a sense in which pride is good. Pride is, "the quality or state of being proud as delight or elation arising from some act, possession, or relationship" (Merriam-Webster Online Dictionary) — pride in a job well done for example. This is pride which either displays or usually takes a disposition of good pleasure toward a particular job done well. Whether we sweep, mop, make corporate decisions or lead in part during worship, having done our very best, we take pride in our work. In other words, when you give your all and thereby reflect on a job well done, a sense of pride or self elation is developed in the result or action required "relative the responsibilities." This pride is good and all should possess a healthy portion.

But pride that is condemned is the disposition to exalt self above others. "The fear of the LORD [is] to hate evil: pride, and arrogancy, and the evil way, and the froward mouth, do I hate." (Prov. 8:13). Pride from this view is evident and, without difficulty, seen throughout society. Our respective places of employment will often prove this assertion true. Usually and indirectly however, this pride develops the attitude of believing one to be God, or a god, and therefore does not have to submit its will to anyone or anything. Admittedly, unless one is the boss, this attitude will not get one very far within the company (Psalm 10:2). Even then the boss has "other bosses" and will submit in some fashion.

This attitude is not to be possessed among Christians. I do not know of one place in holy writ where pride is mentioned from the positive perspective. However pride is as much a sin as is adultery (1 John 3:4). May each of us search inwardly (from where pride originates), and with great effort, repent of and guard against that pride that is condemned, lest we become "full of pride," are consumed thereby, and therefore fall. "Pride [goeth] before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall." (Proverbs 16:18).
